Education is Life
1960

What is education?
Education is that first chewed up pencil
In a hot little hand
Struggling to form the letters of the alphabet.
The first number facts,
The first composition,
And more.
Education is the first homework,
The first year of science
The first conjugation of "to be,"
And more.
It is "The Forsyte Saga,"
Thousand word themes,
And final exams.
Yet it is more.
It is meeting people,
Developing as an individual,
Loving and being loved.
Education is Life!

H. V. HALTEN

Class of 1960

We learned with open minds . . .

In high school we have learned a great deal
About facts and about people.
We have learned dates,
Equations,
Declensions and
Such from books.
Yet we have also learned
To read character from the printed page.
We have learned to appreciate
Both the beauty of nature
And that of truth, friendship, and virtue.
By doing
We have learned not only to sew and to cook
But also to make friends and to enjoy
Both solitude
And companionship.
We have gained knowledge
From ideas planted in our minds by others
And from ideals acquired through experience.

joined with eager spirits . . .

Entering our Alma Mater each fall
Come the Freshmen
New in the ways of the school
Young and innocent
Yet eager, willing to learn.

The next autumn
They return as Sophomores
A little older, a little wiser,
But still full of questions
And impish pranks.

As Juniors,
Having added another year
And more wisdom
Their days in high school
Are half gone.

These are our Freshmen . . .

Sophomores . . .

Juniors . . .

Important plateaus in the life of a young student

Important parts of our high school.

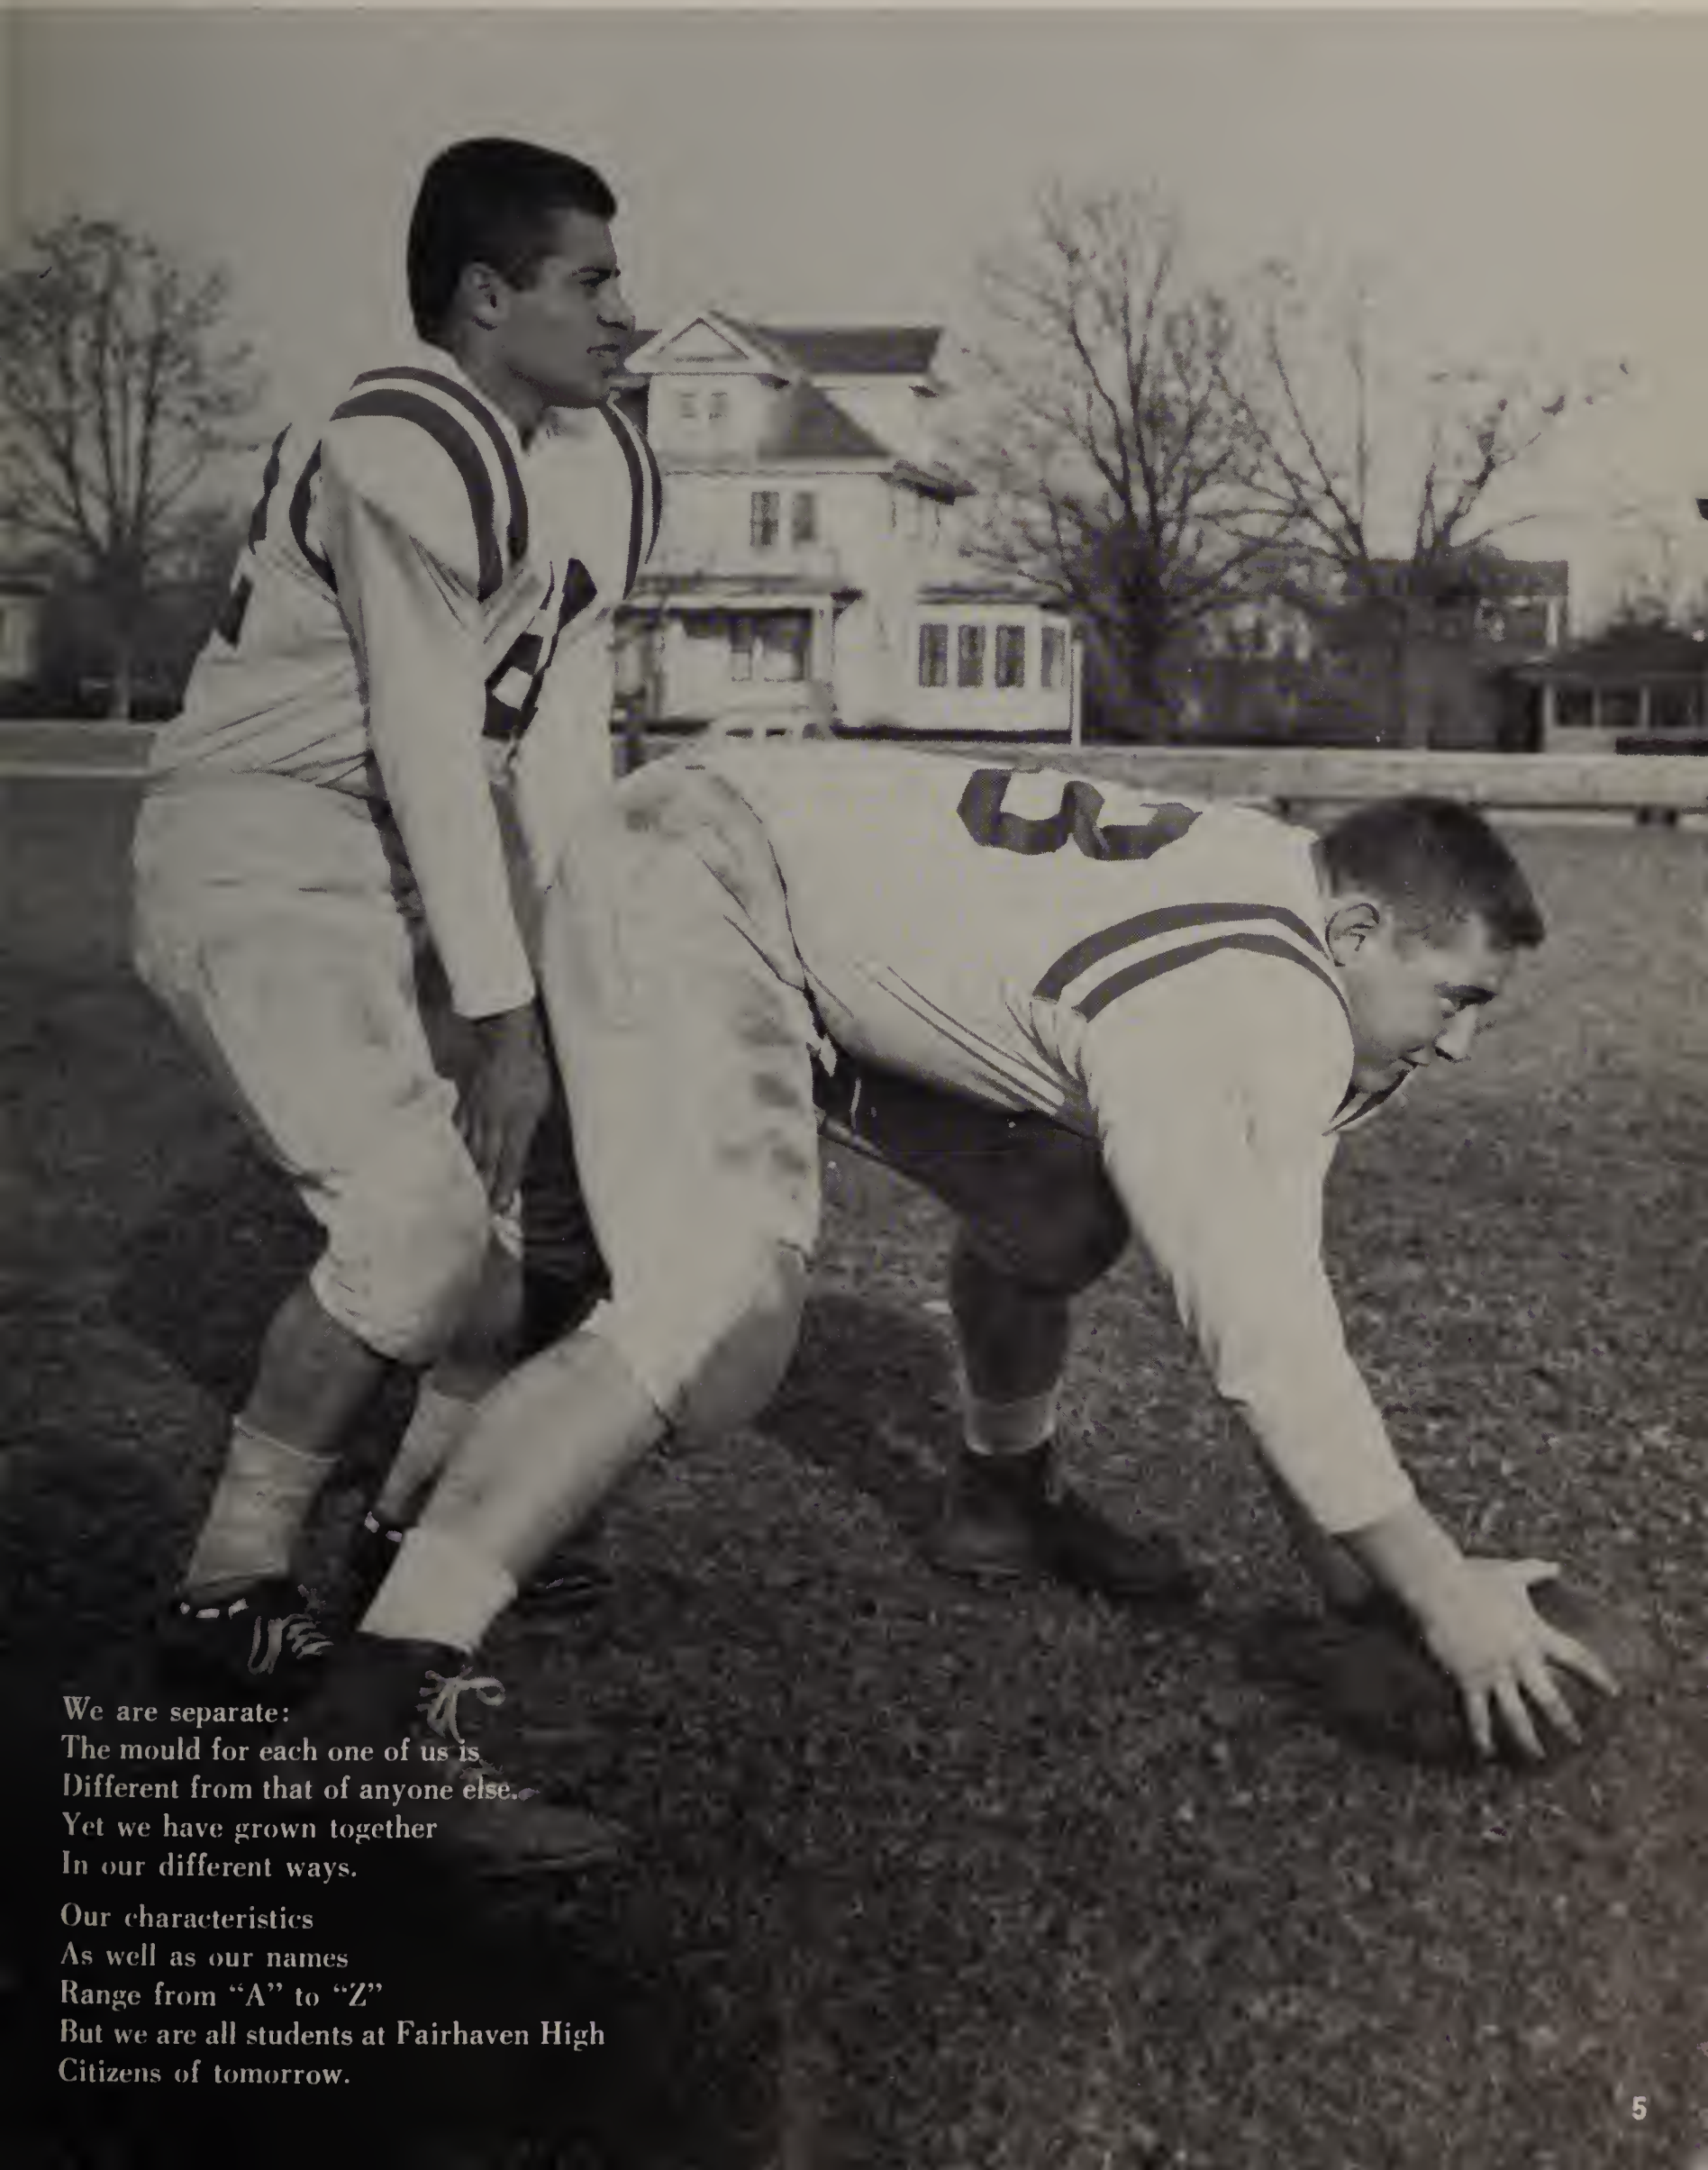

developed individually . . .

Learning together in the same classrooms
Working together on dances, projects, and parties,
Playing sports or cheering our team on
Always together,
Somehow, we have emerged as individuals.

Taking unlike courses,
Participating in different activities,
Coming from different types of homes
And going forth into different walks of life,
Somehow, we are alike.

while working as a team.

We are separate:
The mould for each one of us is Different from that of anyone else.
Yet we have grown together
In our different ways.

Our characteristics
As well as our names
Range from "A" to "Z"
But we are all students at Fairhaven High
Citizens of tomorrow.

Education

From the first moments of our existence
To our high school graduation day
Life has been our teacher
She has taught us
To speak,
To walk,
To play and
To love.
From our first incomprehensible cry
To our present articulate discussions:
From our first wobbling steps
To our carefully timed strides down
the graduation aisle;
From the sandbox days
To football games;
And from adoration for our parents
To our very important "first love."
Life has been our teacher.
Education is life!

is Life!

Mr. Chester M. Downing
Ph.B.
Ed.M.

To educate, as derived from the Latin, is to lead out. A teacher must be able to do more than instruct. He must be able to make his subject live for his pupils. To do this a person must have more than knowledge; he must have that indefinable magic, that warm feeling toward his subject that distinguishes the true teacher from the instructor. A teacher must be able to draw out the reticent child, encourage the gifted person, and understand the complex youngster. This takes patience and understanding.

Mr. Downing is a man with this patience and understanding. To us, he was more than the principal of the high school. He was a man with whom we could discuss important matters and feel we were being understood. When one of us was honored in any way, Mr. Downing was as pleased as if he were the one honored. His fine speeches on such occasions made us all the more proud. Mr. Downing did more than instruct us; he taught us about people and feelings and morals. He taught us by his actions. Not only is he present at church every Sunday morning, but also he practices religion all week long, as if to guide others by his example.

It is to you, Mr. Downing, that we dedicate our book; to you who have taught so many; to you who have been able to educate so many more.

*Our new principal, Mr. Charles C. Entwistle
B.S., M.S., University of Massachusetts*

Members of the Class of 1960:

As you look through this, your yearbook, you will realize that these pages are but a summary of a few years which have gone all too quickly. Some, no doubt, will think of Fairhaven High School as the last step in the process of their education. In the years which have slipped by, some of you have profited more than others. Yet, all of you should sense a hope for the future, your future. As you grow and open your minds to new things, your education becomes a more valuable possession, for the educative process will not cease as long as you live. Your departure from Fairhaven High is not a signal for the door of life to close. No form of life can stand still and so you will go forward through doors for which you, alone, have the keys.

Many decades ago, Leonardo da Vinci wrote, "There is no perfect gift without great suffering." Those moments of your life which seem to be most pleasant are those into which you have put your most vigorous effort. So it will be as you meet the future. If this book causes your spark of determination to glow more brightly, then this is not just a yearbook, but is truly a living symbol. May it inspire you to reach out toward new horizons while you hold fast to your memories.

With each turn of a page, the past will whisper to you, but remember, the voice of the future is one you cannot ignore. Answer it with all your heart, secure in the knowledge that the fruit of education is sweet. For each of you, I wish the best in meeting your opportunity to challenge the unknown.

CHARLES C. ENTWISTLE
PRINCIPAL

Here we see a book, a candle, an apple.
Simple, common.
Yet special, symbolic.
The book
Sturdy and steadfast
Stands for all that we have learned
From it and
From our teachers.
The candle
Tall and white
Is as the light
Of honor
Of friendship and
Of true being.
The apple
Only half-eaten
Reminds us
That knowledge is but half ours,
That the other half may be consumed
Only through experience.
These three,
Book, candle, apple
Stand as a symbol of
All that we have done and
That which we may yet accomplish
In this life of learning.

CARLTON C. ALBRITTON, B.S., in Ed.

Mr. Albritton, the perfect example of a Southern gentleman, was born in Junction City, Louisiana. He earned his degree at Southern State College, where he was a member of the Athenians, a literary society. He is now a member of the Guidance Department, and, as such, leads the Freshmen in their discussions in Freshman Forum. An avid sportsman, he enjoys fishing and hunting.

LEO BALANDYK

Mr. Balandyk, the Supervisor of Instrumental Music, studied at the Contemporary School of Music in New York City. A versatile musician, Mr. Balandyk plays clarinet, saxophone, flute, oboe, trumpet, and horn. He has played in many bands and orchestras and has worked with Eddie Duchin and Buddy Rich. During the summer he performs with the orchestra at the Melody Tent in Hyannis. When he has a few spare moments he goes swimming or listens to his hi-fi.

RAYMOND G. BOYCE, B.S. in Ed., Ed.M.

Mr. Boyce, who instructs chemistry and driver education here, was born in Medford, Mass. He attended Fitchburg State Teachers' College, Bridgewater State Teachers' College, and Boston College. A member of the Men's Choir at St. Mary's Church, Mr. Boyce also serves as Secretary of the St. Vincent de Paul Society in Dartmouth. In the line of science, he belongs to the New England Chemistry Teachers' Association. His main interest is collecting rocks. He considers himself to be a "rock-hound."

MARGUERITE BRASOR, Ph.B.

Born in St. Albans, Vermont, Mrs. Brasor graduated from the University of Vermont. She teaches English and Civics at Fairhaven High. Although she is a busy homemaker, she finds time to teach Sunday School at The First Congregational Church and to attend Town Meetings. Besides all this, she is able to spend many enjoyable moments reading.

DORIS BRUCE, B.S. in Ed.

We are very fortunate to have Mrs. Bruce, a woman of varied activities and talents, as our Guidance Director. A graduate of Bridgewater State Teachers' College and Boston University, Mrs. Bruce belongs to Delta Kappa Gamma, Eta Chapter. Among her other civic activities are membership in Altrusa International, the Bristol County Mental Health Association, and the Massachusetts Association of Deans. Her hobbies include reading, cooking, and camp counseling.

ALEXANDER M. CLEMENT, B.S. in Ed., M. in Ed.

Mr. Clement was born and raised in Chicopee, Massachusetts. He received his education at Williams College, North Adams State Teachers' College, and Hyannis State Teachers' College. He instructs classes in United States History. Mr. Clement spends his spare time working with the Little League, of which he is Commissioner. He enjoys solving crossword puzzles and is an active town meeting member.

HAROLD CORNFORTH, JR., A.B., M.Ed.

Mr. Cornforth, a native of New Bedford, graduated from Bates College, Maine, where he participated in football, basketball, and baseball. He also graduated from Bridgewater State Teachers' College and served as a lieutenant in Infantry in Korea. A water sports fan, Mr. Cornforth owns a fourteen-foot runabout and enjoys swimming. A teacher of Math and General Science, he coaches the track team and assists in coaching the football squad.

LOUISE F. DENNIE, R.N.

Born in Fairhaven, Mrs. Dennie now lives in Mattapoisett. She graduated from the Truesdale Hospital School of Nursing and has been the school nurse at Fairhaven High School for sixteen years. Besides her many duties, she has organized the Future Nurses' Club.

EDITH G. DIAS, A.B.

Many a girl and boy has studied the Latin language under the guidance of Mrs. Dias. A graduate of Pembroke College, Mrs Dias is a member of the New England Classical Association, the Vergilian Society of America, the College Club of New Bedford, and the Fairhaven Town Meeting. She loves traveling and enjoys reading.

DONALD J. DUFOUR, A.B., Ed.M.

Mr. Dufour was born in New Bedford and graduated from Assumption College and Bridgewater State Teachers' College. At present he is a teacher of French at the High School and the teacher of a new course in conversational French at the Junior High.

MELVIN ENTIN, B.S.

Mr. Entin, who has been a lifelong resident of Fairhaven, is a graduate of the University of Rhode Island. At present, he teaches Biology, as well as being head coach and Director of the Physical Education Department. In his spare time he enjoys gardening, woodworking, and fishing.

MANUEL FONTES, B.S., B.A., M. in Ed.

The Huttlestonian staff is deeply indebted to Mr. Fontes, our industrious business manager. A teacher of World History and Government, Mr. Fontes is a graduate of Boston College and Bridgewater State Teachers' College. His hobbies are fishing and model railroading.

RICHARD GAMBLE, B.A.

A native of New Bedford, Mr. Gamble graduated from the University of Massachusetts. He joined the faculty two years ago and teaches United States History, Problems of Democracy, and Economics. Naturally, he is interested in international relations and current history. He also enjoys swimming and music.

EUGENE H. GOLDRICK, B.A.

Mr. Goldrick, who teaches Biology and General Science, attended New Bedford Institute of Technology, Boston University, and Bridgewater State Teachers' College. He is a graduate of Providence College. In his leisure time, he enjoys riding and hiking in the woods. As a special hobby, Mr. Goldrick is interested in the growth of trees, especially evergreens.

WILLIAM R. GURNETT, B.S. in Ed.

Mr. Gurnett, a teacher of printing and shop at Fairhaven High School, was born in Fall River, Massachusetts. A graduate of Fitchburg State Teachers' College, he is now attending Bridgewater State Teachers' College to earn his Master's Degree. He is an avid hi-fi enthusiast.

PRISCILLA P. HILLER

We of the Huttlestonian staff are extremely grateful to Mrs. Hiller for the help and guidance which she has so willingly given us. Besides acting as our adviser, Mrs. Hiller, a graduate of Nasson College, conducts classes in English. In her after-school hours she is active in the Fairhaven Improvement Association, the Fairhaven Town Meeting, and the Y.W.C.A. Executive Board. She enjoys walking, sailing, and "digging up" Indian relics.

MARGARET C. HOWLAND, A.B.

Mrs. Howland, an English instructor, is known for her interesting class discussions and her lucid explanations of dangling participles. She was born in Portland, Maine, and matriculated at Wheaton College. Now a resident of Fairhaven, she devotes her extra time to cooking, reading, and advising "angelic" teenagers. Her other interests are music and the theater.

MARGUERITE JOHNSON

The Supervisor of Choral Music, Mrs. Johnson has been teaching in the Fairhaven School System for sixteen years. Born in Acton, Maine, she now makes her home in Fairhaven. She devotes much of her extra time to various professional and honorary organizations, including the Psi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, Altrusa International, and the Massachusetts Teachers' Association. Her favorite pastimes are composing music and trying new cookie recipes.

MABEL H. KNIPE, A.B., M.A.

Mrs. Knipe will always be remembered for the thought-provoking and inspiring discussions that take place in her geranium-filled classroom. Head of the English department at Fairhaven High School, she has been teaching for twenty-eight years. She was born in Manchester, England, educated at Tufts and Boston University, and belongs to Phi Beta Kappa. Her favorite pastimes are reading, gardening, and singing.

IONA J. KUNZ, B.S.

Mrs. Kunz was born on Iona Island, New York, for which she was named. Graduated from Simmons College, Mrs. Kunz has been teaching mathematics at Fairhaven High School for three years. She cites gardening and housework as her main outside occupations. An ardent Fairhaven fan, she cheers the team on with her spirited verse.

ROBERT C. LAWTON, B.M.E., Ed.

Head of the Mathematics Department, Mr. Lawton has taught here for thirty-one years. He is admired and respected by his students, not only for the mathematical knowledge he imparts, but also for his philosophical wisdom. Born in South Portland, Maine, he graduated from Northeastern University and Boston University. His hobbies include reading, listening to classical music, and "puttering" around the house and yard.

JOHN C. MALCOLM, B.S.

After graduating from the New Bedford Institute of Technology, Mr. Malcolm returned here four years ago to teach mathematics. At present he and Mr. Lawton are studying advanced mathematics at Bridgewater State Teachers' College. Mr. Malcolm, active in the Naval Reserve, also enjoys sailing. The pride and joy of his life is his sloop, The Vagabond III.

ELIZABETH MANDELL

Mrs. Mandell, a Mattapoisett resident, instructs art classes at Fairhaven High School. Born in Somerville, Massachusetts, she graduated from the School of the Museum of Fine Arts. As well as serving as President of the New Bedford Art Group, Mrs. Mandell is a Crapo Gallery Sponsor, a member of the Rodman Club and of the Marion Art Center. She is proficient in various forms of art, including ceramics, block-printing, and portrait-painting.

MARGARET A. MANGHAM^N, B.S., M.S.

Miss Mangham^N, a graduate of Fairhaven High, attended Bridgewater State Teachers' and Boston College. She is interested in foreign languages and has spent many enjoyable years traveling and studying in Europe and South America. As well as teaching English and History here, she does private tutoring.

EVELYN MARTIN

The hard-working but cheerful Mrs. Martin is a graduate of Kinyon's Secretarial School. She serves as secretary to the principal. This position involves a multitude of duties ranging from handling out after-sessions and typing reports to taking charge of the lost and found box. In her well-earned spare time she enjoys cooking, gardening, and relaxing to music.

MARY S. MATTFIELD, B.S.

Mrs. Mattfield is teaching English and Improvement of Reading for her second year here at Fairhaven High School. She was born in Middleborough, Mass., and attended Wellesley College and Boston University. She enjoys reading, particularly English literature, and she is fond of camping in the Maine woodlands.

EDITH M. MOORE, A.B.

Mrs. Moore, who is a member of the English department, is also the adviser of the Fairhaven High School Chapter of Future Teachers of America. Previously, she has served as chairman of the Fairhaven School Committee. Her outside interest is animals, and she is particularly fond of dogs and horses.

JEANNETTE MULVEY

Mrs. Mulvey, our foods teacher, was educated at Bridgewater State Teachers' College. She has been teaching here for eight years and is a resident of Fairhaven. A member of an organization known as the Nutrition Associates of Southern Massachusetts, she is engaged in studying new techniques in food preparation. Mrs. Mulvey is also interested in charity work and is a lay associate of the Holy Cross Fathers.

RICHARD NORMAN, B.S. in Ed.

Mr. Norman is an alumnus of Fairhaven High, and a graduate of the University of Massachusetts. He now serves as baseball coach and assistant basketball coach here. He played Varsity Club basketball, and during this summer was a member of the Wareham Town Baseball Team. Mr. Norman, who is a Captain in the Army Reserves, enjoys sports and music, and is especially partial to trombone music.

MARIE R. NOYER, B.S. in Ed.

Although known to many misinformed students as Mrs. "Noyes," our own Mrs. Noyer takes all this in stride. An alumnus of Salem State Teachers' College, she now instructs Business Law and Office Practice. Mrs. Noyer relaxes by reading, gardening, and knitting. Her community activities include being a member of the Town Meeting, the Fairhaven Improvement Association, and the Colonial Club.

PHILLIPS A. NOYES, A.B., Ed.M.

Senor (or Monsieur) Noyes was born in Kittery, Maine. His extensive education in modern languages included training at Dartmouth College, Harvard University, and L'Universite de Grenoble. He also did graduate study at Columbia University. Mr. Noyes is a member of the Masons, The American Legion, and the Lions Club. He serves as the Assistant Superintendent of the Marion Congregational Church Sunday School and as Secretary of the Marion Library Association.

DIANA OLIVEIRA, B.S.,

Fairhaven High School is again graced by the smiling countenance of Mrs. Oliveira, a former student here. She now teaches typing. A graduate of Katherine Gibbs' Secretarial School in Boston and Salem State Teachers' College, Mrs. Oliveira enjoys cooking, gardening, and reading.

EDWIN J. OLIVEIRA, B.S., Ed.M.

Mr. Oliveira, fondly known as "Ollie" among many of the students, studied at Boston University and is a veteran of World War II and the Korean Conflict. As well as being a capable adviser to the class of '60 for three years, Mr. Oliveira teaches bookkeeping. His hobbies include sailing, ice-skating, and tennis.

NORMAN PECKHAM, B.S. in M.E.

Mr. Peckham, who joined the Fairhaven High School teaching staff this year, commutes from Little Compton, Rhode Island, to his mechanical drawing and physics classes here. A graduate of the University of Rhode Island, he was a member of Sigma Chi and participated in wrestling. Mr. Peckham is very interested in aviation and is currently engaged in building his own airplane. (We wonder—will he fly it to school?)

AVIS M. PILLSBURY, Ph.B.

Miss Pillsbury, our librarian, was born in Providence, R. I., and attended Brown University and the University of Illinois. Her many civic activities include membership in the Fairhaven Improvement Association, the New Bedford College Club, and the Colonial Club. She enjoys travel, photography, and, of course, books.

RUTH ROBINSON, B.S. in Ed.

Born in Plymouth, Massachusetts, Mrs. Robinson now lives in Marion. She graduated from Salem State Teachers' College, and teaches stenography at Fairhaven High School. Her activities include the League of Women Voters, the Marion Mothers' Club, and she is Treasurer of the Marion Methodist Church. Furniture refinishing and cooking take up many of her after-school hours.

GEORGE F. ROGERS, A.B. in Ed.

Mr. Rogers, a native of New Bedford, Massachusetts, has been a member of the faculty for two years. Graduated from Providence College, he teaches English and Junior Business Training. He cites sports, particularly amateur boxing, as his main interest. He belongs to several athletic clubs, and has been co-chairman of the New England Golden Gloves Tourney. This year he is an AU Commissioner, the group which manages all amateur sports in New England.

BEATRICE M. SPENCE, B.A., M.A.

Mrs. Spence is a graduate of Middlebury College and Columbia University. She teaches Homemaking at the high school and is a resident of Fairhaven. In her leisure hours, Mrs. Spence loves to sit down with a good book, to knit, or to work in her garden.

MARY JANE SYKES, B.S.

Mrs. Sykes, a graduate of Ithaca College, New York, is new to our faculty. She is Director of Girls' Physical Education and also instructs classes in General Science. A natural sports enthusiast, she fills her leisure hours swimming, skiing, and ice skating.

WALTER D. WOOD, A.B., M.A.

Mr. Wood, the assistant principal at Fairhaven High School, teaches physics. Born in Worcester, Massachusetts, he attended Clark University. Mr. Wood, who has been here for thirty-one years, firmly believes in having a well-rounded education in order to make life more enjoyable. Accordingly, he is "interested in everything," ranging from serving as Treasurer of the Fairhaven Protecting Society, to gardening, fishing, and reading—especially non-fiction.

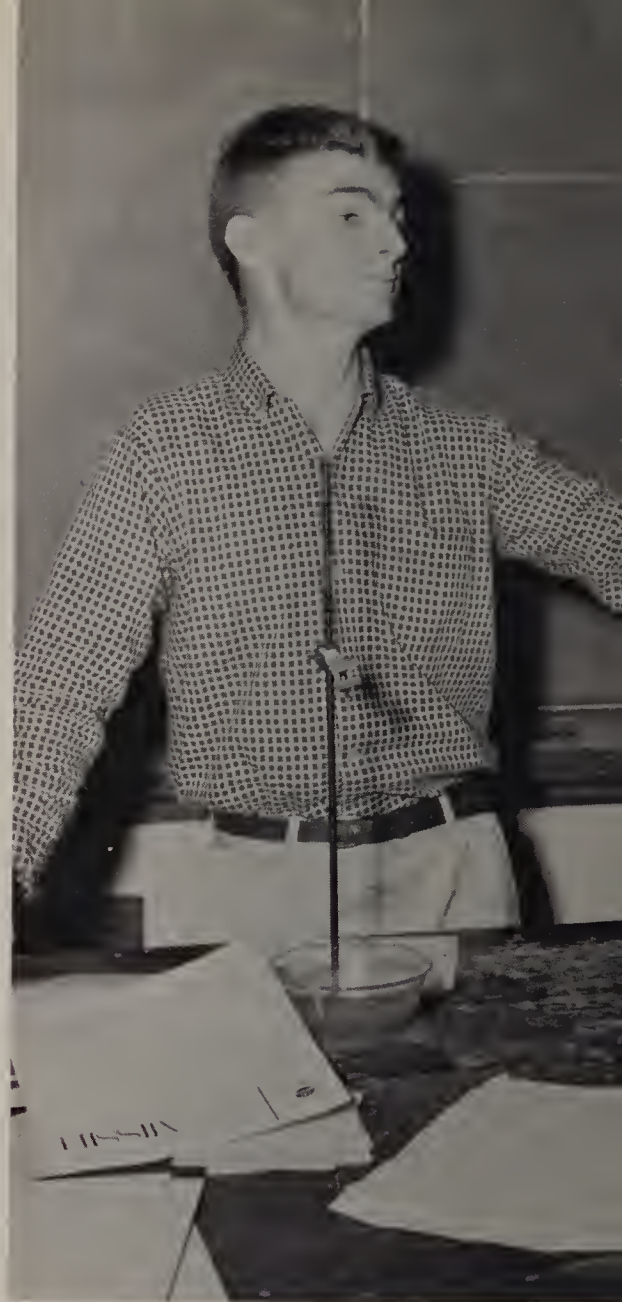

From Nature . . .

"The first in time and the first in importance of the influences upon the mind is that of nature."

—Ralph Waldo Emerson

Through our lives
From our first breath to our last
We learn from nature.
She shows us beauty:
The trees and the flowers.
She shows us Life:
From the smallest of creatures
To the mightiest oak.
This is Biology;
A study of Life through nature.
She shows us the vastness of a summer sky
Stretching from here to beyond
Dotted with clouds
And floating over a rolling sea.
This is Physics;
Energy and matter combining to form
Sea, clouds, and sky.
She gives us trees for building,
Food for nourishment,
Beauty to enjoy,
And Life to live.
She shows us our oneness:
How each living thing,
Regardless of how great or small,
Fulfills his part of nature's plan;
All combining to form
One nature, one world, one universe.
This is Mathematics:
Many forming one,
All things dying and being reborn,
Changing and evolving.
All this is a part of nature.
Nature is Life.

Mr. Wood and Mac Campbell demonstrate some of the gaseous laws of the universe.

A flash of flame and a burst of knowledge in the chemistry lab. Janine Potherat, Cynthia Messier, and Sue Amaral seemed intrigued by what Mr. Boyce is doing.

"That's a what, Mr. Entin?" asks Richie Rodericks.

Our six-footers use six-foot sliderules as Sherm Rounsville demonstrates.

From the Past . . .

"Books are the best type of influence of the past . . .
—Ralph Waldo Emerson

Learning from the past, from books . . .

We face the future with knowledge
Imparted by men of other times.

In the course of our high school years . . .

Reading the works of great authors,
We learn and appreciate the value
Of books.

Gaining knowledge, wisdom, experience . . .

We read of philosophy, of people, of life . . .

We learn of nature, of history, of distant lands,
From books.

We face tomorrow and the years beyond . . .

With knowledge, wisdom, and experience
Learned:

From books.

warns Mr. Oliveira.

The story of the founding fathers is retold to us by Mr. Gamble.

Mrs. Knipe explains the theatre of her native land, England.

"Coming from Texas makes Spanish easy," says Madelyn Toland.

From Action . . .

"The true scholar grudges every opportunity of action passed by as a loss of power."

—Emerson

Action is a road,
A road by which
We enter the world of knowledge.
Along this road we encounter
Setbacks and disappointments,
Imperfections which can be overcome
Only through practice
Under trained instructors.
At this point in our lives
We are given the opportunity
To learn through action.
From our first blackened cupcake
To our light golden biscuits;
From our first crooked seam
To our original creations;
From shaky scales to Double Quartet;
We are learning through action.
Untrained girls become poised secretaries.
Boys with ten thumbs become craftsmen.
Through our mistakes do we learn.
Practice is our teacher.

Freshmen . . .

Unversed and curious,
But ever seeking knowledge
To guide us through our lives.

We shall always remember
Our first year of high school,
A year filled with hard work,

Our first days were spent
In confusion and bewilderment,
But we soon became acquainted
With the traditional ways of our school.

Our hopes are high,
Our self-reliance strong,

Of dances, games, and fun galore
We remember these times:

Our dashing boys
Sparking the team,
We cheering them on
With loyal shouts.

Piles of homework
With glaring looks,

Long, hard study.

The familiar cry of

Unaware of confusion
They caused.

All these memories will remain
In our hearts forever
As we turn our eager heads
To our Junior year.

Facing the most important year.
This is the year we begin
To realize our responsibilities.
This is the year we begin
To go out into the world,
Seeking success and happiness.

As we look back over our first
two years,
We wonder how time can fly so fast,
How we can grow from a young,
inexperienced Freshman,
To a poised, responsible Junior.
We are preparing for our last
high school year,
A year which will be upon us sooner than we realize,
The last year on our travels to adulthood.

We are searching for the key to knowledge,
And we will find this key through
The books we read, the teachers
we respect,
And the homework we do.
This key will lead us to success
and happiness,
So we shall join with eager spirits
And search for this key together.

"Gee, Mr. Rogers, it's kinda hard to pin it on!" says Nancy Downing, as Diane Despres gives a cheer, and Joyce Harrison turns on the charm.

individually . . .

These classrooms watch us grow together,
Our instructors see us learn together,
While these marble halls are part of
Our individual development.
While some drill in our little octagonal gym,
Others chorus arpeggio around a piano,
And some tune instruments on the stage.
Paint is being splashed on canvas
While others converse in foreign tongues
As some learn to take a pulse,
Others practice teaching, "I am, you are.
 he is, . . ."
As one we cheer our teams on to victory.
Together we dance at our hops.
Our staff works together to produce a yearbook.
Yet all the while we are developing as individuals.

Student Council

As leaders of the school, the members of the Student Council must be capable of representing their classmates at meetings, representing their school at conventions, and representing their town on Student Government Day. The council members also help to maintain good school spirit by including many students in campaigns and by introducing the student body to the faculty at afternoon social functions. In this way the council helps the students and faculty members work together in harmony to keep the school standards high. The Student Council is an integral part of the school, for a school is only as good as its governing body.

String Ensemble

Soft soothing music is interrupted by the deliberate crash of a sforzando. The string ensemble is performing. Its program varies from classical music, to popular tunes, to catchy novelty numbers. The members of the ensemble enjoy playing under the able direction of Mrs. Blanche T. Moreau and they are able to give the simplest number meaning. The rehearsing is enjoyable, and the results are rewarding.

Future Nurses

Cake sales, movies, and lectures—all these have been included in the list of activities of the Future Nurses Club. Though this is only the third year that the club has been in existence, it has met with much success under the direction of Mrs. Dennie, the school nurse. As a special project, the members are raising money to provide a scholarship for a Fairhaven High School girl who plans to enter the nursing profession.

Blue Notes

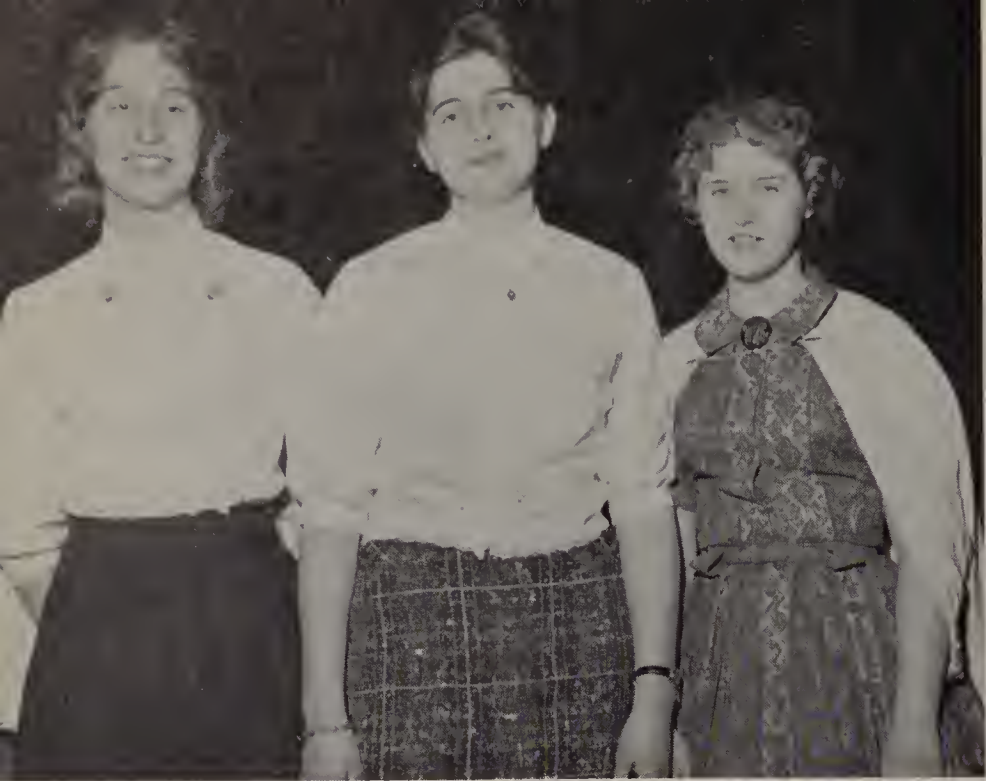

Smooth! Popular! Jazzy! These adjectives best describe Fairhaven's own Blue Notes. Three senior and three junior boys who got together two years ago for "a good time," now produce some of the best music in this area. Their many arrangements, including both waltzes and rock-n-roll, have made friends both young and old.

F.H.S. Dance Band

The F.H.S. dance band has really been beating out a tune this year. The group's swinging strains have been a pleasure to all who have heard them. The fourteen boys and one girl can really harmonize together. Playing for the first time in public this year was a tremendous accomplishment for the group. Under the excellent direction of Mr. Leo Balandyk, the musicians have not only learned much about playing dance music, but also about playing together as a smooth combo. This group has really got it!

The members of the French Club, either Juniors or Seniors, gather every other week. This year they have a very hard job in trying to understand their President, who, as our exchange student, comes directly from France. In front of the club, she reverts to a French girl, or at least she tries to talk in French without any American accent, remembering all her French grammar.

To interest the students in French, every pleasant way to improve their facility in a foreign language is used: the reading of the French newspaper "La Vie," the telling of tales, the showing of pictures about France, and the teaching of Christmas carols.

We have great hope in these students and Mr. Noyes has announced an award for the student who will have improved the most during three years of study.

Traffic Squad

"Keep it down! Do you want an aftersession?"

Throughout the year monitors have patiently requested a peaceful atmosphere within our marble corridors. Students, at times, may look upon a traffic squad member as a tyrant, but on the whole they respect him as a necessary factor in registering law and order within the school.

Susan Hall polices the corridor in front of Room 8.

Gathering canned goods, selling Christmas trees, holding the first annual Key Club Ball; these were some of the projects of the Fairhaven High School Key Club. Under the able guidance of the president Sherm Rounsville, the club strived to aid the school, community, and state. After a year of hard work and devotion, the boys of the Key Club can rightfully be proud of their accomplishments.

Library Assistants

Sorting new and old books, decorating the library, and repairing books have been the jobs of this group. The library assistants have aided Miss Pillsbury in every way possible. Our beautiful school library is one of the most adequate in this area. The card catalogue, which is a great aid to the students, has been sorted and kept up to date by this "tip-top" group of girls.

Tell a story
'Bout how seven girls lead their
Team on to glory.

Dressed in royal blue.

Are cute . . . and . . . new!
"Be precise and peppy!"
That's the rule
Of the cheerleaders from Fairhaven High School.
This squad is always smiling.
They're really quite a troupe
'Cause they have extra backing
From their mascot named "Snoop-y!"
With sturdy knees, spirits high,
And voices very loud,
Laurels to these girls
Of whom we're very proud!

Our "pseudo-cheerleaders" give a lusty cheer at one of our rallies.

Our girls at work!

Individualism and teamwork are combined under the able guidance of Mrs. Moore, the adviser of the Mary A. Sales Chapter of the Future Teachers of America. Singly, these girls enter classrooms to observe teachers at work. Jointly, they gather once a week to share what they have experienced.

On graduation day one Senior member of the Future Teachers' Club will be the proud recipient of the second annual Chester M. Downing scholarship. To make this award possible for one member, all the girls work together on numerous projects.

G.A.A.

The Girls' Athletic Association is responsible for many "behind the scene" tasks which aid the various girls' teams in their activities. The teams depend on the G.A.A. for transportation, refreshments and the funds they so greatly need.

The group, having Mrs. Sykes as its adviser, has successfully completed another year of organizing and generally "mothering" the basketball, volleyball, and softball teams, and is now hopefully awaiting the annual Bristol County League Girls' Banquet. This banquet affords the girls an opportunity to get acquainted with their "rivals" from other teams; it also provides a friendly and congenial atmosphere for the awarding of various prizes.

Solveig Knutsen, Secretary-Treasurer; Kathy Townley, Vice-President; Nancy Baron, President.

Pep Squad

"Fight, team, fight!" rings out loud and clear from our enthusiastic Pep Squad. With their bright blue sweaters and precision marching at our football games, the squad's terrific school spirit is an asset to our cheerleaders. The Pep Squad has helped to sell varsity "rats" with the cheering squad, and at our rallies and games has aided in giving our school a reputation for exceptional spirit and good sportsmanship.

"We are Fairhaven High, and no one could be prouder!"

Once a week an enthusiastic group of thirty young artists climb the marble stairs past our beautiful stained glass windows to the tiny little art room in the tower beneath the clock.

Though our room be small and our membership large, the creative efforts of our participants have been most successful.

Christmas was the occasion for our first group project. Twenty-two huge Christmas cards executed in poster pastels and tempora were delivered by our executive committee to Sol-e-mar Hospital to bring joy and cheer to its young patients. The members were delighted to know that due to the variety of subjects used, the children were able to select their own cards.

The Art Club fosters new and different experiments with all types of materials and encourages all creative efforts. Among the favorite media used are drawing inks, colored pencils, water colors, sketcho oil crayons, and crai-pas.

The group hopes this year to arrange a field trip to visit the museums in Boston.

Fairhaven's top notch band has had another very successful year. A large variety of colorful formations were presented at our football games. The band traveled to Nantucket to play for the town at the tree presentation on the island. At our school rallies much boisterous spirit was given us by the band. Under the chairmanship of Denise Johnson and her committee, the band collected over $800 on Tag Day, breaking its goal. This year's Pops Concert with its familiar blues rhythms as well as the stirring marshall roll of brass, reed, and percussion was a tremendous success.

"Buenos dias, senior Noyes!" This is a familiar greeting heard frequently at the bi-monthly meetings of the Spanish Club of Fairhaven High School. To promote the fluent oral use of the language, all of the meetings are conducted in Spanish. The members of the club read issues of "La Luz," a newspaper written entirely in Spanish for high school students. This will be the second year that the "Phillips A. Noyes Prize for Excellence in Spanish" will be awarded to that Senior in El Club Espanol who is acknowledged by his fellow club members and senior Noyes as having most capably mastered the use of the Spanish language. El Club Espanol has had an enjoyable and successful year, and its members express the wish that next year will bring similar success to the Spanish Club of 1960-1961!

Honor Society

The emblem of the Fairhaven Honor Society is the flaming torch; the motto is, "Light is the symbol of truth." The colors, blue and yellow, symbolize the truth within each of us and the light with which truth radiates the world.

The members of this society are Juniors and Seniors, chosen for their qualifications of scholarship, character, leadership, and service. They serve as representatives of the high standards fostered by our school. All are proud of this honor.

Homemaking Club

Arrayed in the neat dresses and matching co-ordinates that they so carefully created, the girls model their outfits before many interested students. This—the spring style show—is the high point of the year for the girls of the Homemaking Club.

As well as sewing, the members practice the useful arts of knitting and embroidery. As future wives and mothers, these girls will certainly reap the fruits of that knowledge gained through experience and the help of Mrs. Spence, their adviser.

We salute . . .

What is an athlete?
He is an extraordinary breed.
Instilled with a competitive spirit,
Molded with determination,
Spirited by a will to win,
Gifted with God given or self-made abilities,
Conditioned by hours of practice,
Governed by his self-adopted rules of sportsmanship.

As a member of a team
His thoughts turn first
To his team and teammates,
And secondly to himself.

He plays to win, but
To face defeat is not failure;
It is a stimulus towards better efforts.
Not every man can win.
It is a true athlete
Who loses and can say:

The game with Vocational, displaying our defensive ability with a great goal line stand, ended in a 0-0 tie. The season was highlighted with our first Thanksgiving Day game with Dartmouth.

"I saw it first!" Paul Bernard s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-s for the rebound "he saw first."

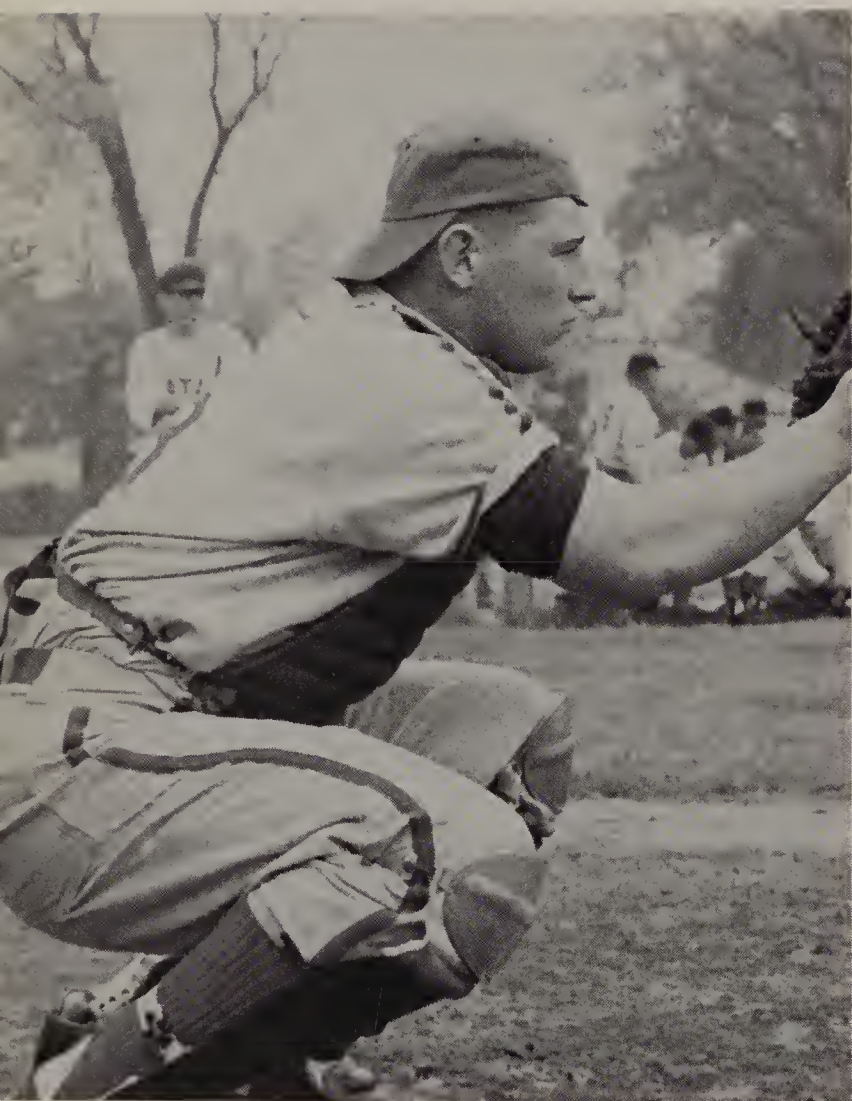

Rebounding from a poor season last year, the Fairhaven High basketball team finished the long 20 game grind in fine fashion. Captain Paul, Tom, and "Big Mike" led the quintet with sparkling performances continually throughout the campaign. Augie and Sherman, chipping in strategic performances, aided the Blue's drive to a successful climax of a hard year.

Near capacity crowds witnessed thrilling, seat-squirming contests as the Fairhavenites scored, rebounded, and hustled to a victorious season. Much of the team's prosperity can be attributed to Coach Mel Entin, his determination, long experience, and patience.

When the March winds began to blow last 'spring, the baseball team at Fairhaven High got out their hickory sticks and the horse-hide covered spheres and jogged over to Cushman Park to prepare for an 18 game schedule. Under the new mentorship of Coach Richard Norman, the Fairhaven nine terminated the campaign with a much improved record compared to previous years.

Although sporting only a fair record, the young team showed much promise. Captain Augie, leading the squad in many departments, was a member of the All-County Team. Brighter prospects are seen for next year as the starting lineup returns to challenge circuit teams with salvos from experienced bats.

A penny for your thoughts, Mr. Norman.

On the

"Go to your mark. Now set. Go!" That's just what the track team did this year—it went places. The speed demons of Fairhaven, under Coach Harold Cornforth, ran wild in Bristol County League dual meet competition without being taken by a single club. Color, rivalry and action characterized the New Bedford meet, the best clash on local cinders in a long while. Considering the size of the schools and previous records, the only loss suffered by Fairhaven was considered a great moral victory for our school.

Not only did the team bring the laurels to our school in local competition, it produced away from home as well. Ray Arruda established a Bristol County Meet record with an electrifying jump of 6½", and the fleet relay combine of Dave Toupin, Richie Roderick, Henry Knutsen, and Geff Purvis won 440 relay championships at the Belmont and the St. John's Prep Relays.

Coach Cornforth is to be commended for his fine work during his first year at the helm of the team.

On the Courts

Coach Twarog explains to Frank Fletcher that swinging a tennis racket is like swinging a machete.

The courts of Fairhaven High witnessed a multitude of sustained volleys and yielded a winning tennis team under the capable guidance of coach Ed Twarog. The 6-3 record achieved this year is identical to that compiled last season.

Led by Captain Frank, who reached the semi-finals in the 32nd State Interscholastic Tennis Tournament, Tom Mendell, and Jim Carruth, the formidable Fairhaven team was very tough on the opposition in match rivalry. Frank was undefeated in dual match competition this season. Considered by the team to be their best match, New Bedford was vanquished for the first time in several years.

Girls' Basketball

"Time in with the whistle . . ." These are the words known well by every girl who plays basketball, and every girl on the Fairhaven High School basketball team made her "time in" count. However, matched against more efficient clubs, the girls lost more games than they won. In spite of the disappointing scores, the team put up a good fight. Relying upon split second decisions, the girls threw accurate passes and showed the true spirit of teamwork in all their games. The fact that the team has been playing together only this season may account for its low scoring. With more practice together the girls may be able to emulate the great record of the boys' team.

"Why can't the boys do this?" wonders Harriet Hirst.

Class History

We entered the strange and wondrous halls of Fairhaven High School in 1956, as timid and doubtful Freshmen. During this exciting and fascinating year we chose the following to lead us: Martha Gardner, President; Denise Johnson, Vice-President; Thomas Mendell, Secretary; and Beverly Govoni, Treasurer. Our class was placed in the patient and capable hands of Mr. Donald Dufour, our first adviser, who led us through a successful year. As our first project, we sold wrapping paper, and this, too, was something we had never done before. The end of this active year brought our Freshman-Sophomore Dance. As co-sponsors, we, along with the Sophomores, took an active part in planning for and making our first dance a success.

Donald Dufour

As more experienced Sophomores, or so we thought anyway, we were led by: Linda Browning, President; Beverly Govoni, Vice-President; Jeanne Sullivan, Secretary; and Carol Benjamin, Treasurer. Our number was increased this year by the Sophomores from Mattapoisett Center School. This year our class adviser was Mr. Edwin Oliveira. To add to our class treasury, we undertook another project, selling Christmas cards. We, as Sophomores, again co-sponsored the Annual Freshman-Sophomore Dance. This year also introduced Majorie Dumas to the Cheering Squad, the first of our classmates to receive this honor. This year's squad won the fourth place trophy in the Spencer Tournament. With two full years behind us, we looked forward to the two even more wonderful ones to come.

Edwin Oliveira

The second half of our high school career began with the election of our class officers. We chose our classmates to the following offices: Martha Gardner, President; Thomas Mendell, Vice-President; Marjorie Dumas, Secretary; and Suzanne Amaral, Treasurer. Our project was almost the same as that of our Sophomore year. This year we sold all-occasion cards. The highlight of our Junior year was our Junior Prom. Chosen Queen at this festive occasion, set in a Japanese atmosphere, was Martha Gardner. Standing beside Her Majesty was her lady-in-waiting, Marjorie Dumas. The court was composed of Linda Browning, Janet DeBlois, Rosemarie Gagne, Sylvia Hales, Lois Lessard, and Marion Sitnick. Also, we joined with the other three classes to sponsor the "Football Bounce." Along the same line of sports, we must mention the addition of Martha Gardner as substitute cheerleader to the squad. This year, the squad brought back the first place trophy from the Spencer Tournament. The end of the school year brought about various happenings. To begin with, our American Field Service representative to Germany was Linda Browning. Chosen to represent Fairhaven at Massachusetts Girls' State was Diane Bienia, and representing Mattapoisett was Barbara Ellis. Our Massachusetts Boys' State delegates were Sherman

Edith Dias

Marie Noyer

Edith Moore

Rounsville from Fairhaven and Jeffrey Lewis and Edward Sylvia from Mattapoisett. Chosen as the new officers for the National Honor Society were: Carol Ann Wyzga, President; Beverly Turner, Vice-President; Carol Picanso, Secretary; and Lorraine Alfama, Treasurer. At our Junior Day Assembly each Junior wore a yellow rose as we filed into the auditorium. At this assembly, Sherman Rounsville was presented with the Harvard Club Award and Beverly Turner was presented with the College Club Award. These awards are presented to a boy and a girl in the Junior class, who are, in the opinion of faculty and fellow students, outstanding in scholarship, leadership, character, and promise of future performance. Another year had drawn to a close. Now we looked forward to our next year when we should be known to all as Seniors.

The long-awaited year arrived. To lead us through our final year at Fairhaven High School we chose: Martha Gardner, President; Marjorie Dumas, Vice-President; Thomas Mendell, Secretary; and Beverly Turner, Treasurer. Linda Browning was awarded the D.A.R. Award, presented to the Senior girl voted most deserving by her classmates and faculty. This year we all enjoyed a sparkling addition to the Senior Class—Janine Potherat, the French exchange student. Our advisers were: Mrs. Edith Dias, Mrs. Marie Noyer, Mrs. Edith Moore, and Mr. Edwin Oliveira. We co-sponsored "The Paris Holiday Dance," at which Janine entertained us with "Autumn Leaves," "The Day That the Rains Came," and "C'est Mon Homme." Martha Gardner and Susan Whitaker were added to our Cheering Squad, of which Marjorie Dumas was now head cheerleader. For the first time in many years, F.H.S. was represented in Class "A" competition at the Tech Tourney at Boston Garden. "Sherm," "Augie," "Tommy," "Paul," and "Mike," played three tremendous games, taking us as far as the semi-finals. The Senior Play was presented on the night of March 18. The cast for "Miss Mischief" was: Diane Bienia, Carol Benjamin, Jacqueline LeConte, Kathryn Kozuch, Charlotte Cejka, Madelynn Toland, Napoleon Holmes, Richard Roderick, John Haaland, and William O'Brien. The play was under the capable direction of Mr. Cuthbert Tunstall. Through the Student Government elections, Napoleon Holmes was chosen to represent Fairhaven High School at the State Capitol.

Nearing the end of our days at Fairhaven High School, we began our graduation activities. On June 10, we danced to heavenly music at the last dance we would attend together as classmates—our Senior Prom. On June 12, vesper services were held in the Huttleston Avenue Auditorium. June 13, brought the night of our Senior banquet. On June 15, our friends and relatives gathered together to attend our graduation. With tears in our eyes, thoughts of our days, both happy and sad in F.H.S., passed through our minds. Now we looked to the future, bidding farewell to that part of our lives we shall always cherish.

THE EXECUTIVE BOARD: Carol Ann Wyzga, Linda Browning, Sherman Rounselle, James Carruth, Suzanne Amaral.

"Semper volens"—our Senior Class officers. Dance, finances, and graduation plans are capably conducted under their leadership. Besides these duties, the officers are seen everywhere—always more than glad to do "that extra something": selling that extra ad; playing in football, basketball, and baseball games; or cheering our team on to victory. Above all, the officers are the mouthpiece of the class as a whole, our representatives in the school and community, our leaders who know the true function of class office is service to others.

Junior Day

Three symbols
Roses, tears, the Senior mantle
Means Junior Day:

First,
Roses,
Still buds of youth,
As are we,
Worn by all the class
To symbolize
Our unity,
Our friendships;

Second,
Tears,
Both happy ones
And sad ones,
Appearing as we think back
On fond memories
And look ahead
With great expectations;

Last,
The Senior mantle
Symbolic of the year to come
Of the responsibility
Of the honor
Of becoming Seniors.

Each of the three
Is special in itself,
But the three together
Mean our Junior Day.

The Junior Class begins its triumphant march toward the Senior year.

Mrs. Hugh Darden presents Beverly Turner with the College Club Book Award, given to the Junior girl considered "most outstanding in scholarship, leadership, character, and promise of high achievement."

Sherman Rounsville shakes hands with Mr. Raymond Mitchell, as he accepts the Harvard Club Prize Book Award; "awarded to that student among the boys on the next to the last year of college preparatory course whom the head master, after consultation with the faculty and the boys' classmates, shall deem most worthy by result of high scholarship and character."

August Oliveira accepts a Varsity Sweater from Mr. Entin in recognition of three years on the baseball team.

A farewell gift is presented to Mr. Downing by Mr. Entin.

Carl Maxfield, Thomas Mendell, Francis Wacławik, and James Carruth wait patiently to receive their tennis awards from Coach Twarog.

Carol Benjamin receives recognition for basketball participation from Miss Hayes.

Awards

Each spring an assembly is held to honor members of athletic teams. Letters are presented to deserving team members, and cups and trophies are awarded to outstanding players. These awards are presented for athletic prowess, but more important, for good sportsmanship. As a skillful player is applauded, so a good sport is admired.

Mr. Downing presents the Sparrow Cup to James Cabral for his participation in the greatest number of sports.

Sherman Rounsville receives his track letter from Coach Cornforth as Geoffrey Purvis and Henry Knutsen look on.

The Queen and her court: Lois Lessard; Sylvia Hales; Marion Sitnick; Majorie Dumas, Lady-in-Waiting; Toya Doran, Crown-bearer; Martha Gardner, Queen; Andrea Kucharsky, last year's Queen; Janet DeBlois; Linda Browning; Rosemarie Gagne.

Martha Gardner smilingly accepts the silver rose-entwined crown from Andrea Kucharsky.

Shangri-La

To the exotic music of Bud Lilly's orchestra we danced, surrounded by lanterns, fans, and garlands of spring flowers in our own Japanese garden. It was the evening of May 1, 1959, and after months of anticipation our dreams of the Junior Prom were finally realized.

A hush fell over the dancers as strains of the entrance march for the Queen and her court were heard. Preceding the Queen were her six smiling attendants, Lois Lesard, Sylvia Hales, Marion Sitnick, Janet DeBlois, Linda Browning, and Rosemarie Gagne. Andrea Kucharsky, last year's Queen, entered next. The novelty of the evening was little Toya Doran, wearing a red and gold print kimono and carrying the silver, rose-entwined crown. With shining eyes, our Queen, Martha Gardner, ascended her throne. Taking her place beside the Queen, was Majorie Dumas, Lady-in-Waiting.

With dignity Andrea Kucharsky placed the coveted crown on Martha Gardner, thus proclaiming her reigning queen of the Junior Prom of 1959. It was a scene all of us shall long remember. Surrounded by her court, the Queen was seated on her dais at the head of the hall. Behind her was a beautiful Japanese panel, painted especially for the dance by Shirley Price and Beverly Bastien. In couples the dancers paid homage to their Queen in a colorful and ceremonious grand march.

At 11:30 P.M., the dancers bade sayonara to their patrons and patronesses, Mr. and Mrs. Lynwood P. Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. Chester M. Downing, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Oliveira, Mrs. William Bruce, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Mandell. Lanterns were extinguished and fans folded, as we reluctantly and wistfully closed the door on our Junior Prom, but the memory of our Japanese garden lingers on.

Queen Martha bestows a royal smile upon her crown-bearer Toya Doran.

"Mais, non! M. Noyes. Vous avez tort!" jokingly protests Janine.

"Walk together, talk together, O ye peoples of the earth: then and only then shall ye have peace."

The A.F.S. student walks and cycles with friends, talks with classmates, eats at the same table with his family, and thus learns to know his adopted country as it actually is, not as it appears in books. He is able to realize for himself that people are the same the world over. He learns to love his family as his own, and a very close bond is established. This bond never weakens but grows stronger through warm correspondence. The student knows that he has a family waiting for him should he return to that country.

Each A.F.S. student returns to his native land a little wiser, a little more understanding, and a great deal more tolerant. Is there any better way toward world peace?

Sue Amaral, Lee Doran, and Bob Heuberger accompany Janine Potherat as she sings.

"All's fair in love and war"—could well be the theme of "Miss Mischief." Carol Benjamin, cast as a carefree young girl, adds spark to camp life as she battles against the complaints of Charlotte Cejka, the camp director. Diane Bienia and Carol scheme to break camp rules to go to the campfire with the boy scouts, Richard Roderick and John Haaland. To add the romantic touch among the grown-ups, Madelyn Toland, camp counselor, falls in love with Napoleon Holmes, camp physician. William O'Brien, the highway patrol lieutenant, strives to gain the love of the authoritarian camp mistress. Two girls, Jacqueline LeConte and Kathryn Kozuch, complicate the plot when they, too, go to the campfire.

The cast spent many hours rehearsing their presentation. Along with the usual grievances of forgotten lines and missed cues, a broken telescope did nothing to help the situation. However, "Miss Mischief" was finally presented with an undeniable sense of accomplishment in each player's heart.

"It's a snake!" screams "Barbara." "Helen," "Dotty," and "Marian" look on quite unconcernedly.

Alic Rex and Linda Orpin, prompters, go over their lines.

Nancy Corcorran, publicity chairman, checks last minute details.

"Another customer for you, Dr. Joe." William O'Brien carries in limp "Dotti," Carol Benjamin, as "Helen," Diane Bienia, and "Ronnie," John Haaland, look on.

Tribute

We, the class of 1960, wish to pay tribute to the flag of the United States of America in this, our Senior year; for this year, and this year only, its stars number forty-nine.

“Our glorious land to-day,
'Neath Education's sway,
Soars upward still.
Its halls of learning fair,
Whose bounties all may share,
Behold them everywhere,
On vale and hill.”

Basketball Tournament

For the first time in the history of Fairhaven High School our basketball team entered Class A in Tech Tourney play. In the first round the team defeated Brookline High, 65-59, in a thrilling "give-and-take" game. Brookline was ranked fifth in Massachusetts while Fairhaven was twelfth. The team then engaged its arch-rival, Vocational High. They say, "Good things come in three's," and in our third attempt we beat Voke, 74-65, in the most thrilling game of the year, for Voke held the Bristol County championship. The team then entered the semi-finals against Somerville.

These "Blue Burglars" deserve the greatest amount of credit that we can give them, for they came from "underdogs" every time to emerge from Tech Tourney as the "top team in Bristol County."

The Huttlestonian thanks the New Bedford Standard-Times for the use of the photographs on these pages.

"I-i-i-v-v-ve got it!" stretches Augie Oliveira.

"And Tommy Mendell put another basket in, woo-woo!"

"High jump, high jump, mighty high jump," cheer Nancy Downing, Sue Whitaker, Midge Dumas, Joyce Harrison and Diane Despres.

Now we are called forth
From these marble halls
To seek that which evades us
Yet lures us ever forward
Compelling us to search;
Compelling us to become master
Of that which is to be our own.
